

IT tools for BPR

Biocides Stakeholders' Day

25 June 2013

Tom Uotila

Business analyst

European Chemicals Agency

Contents

- The “big picture”
- Costs and benefits
- Stakeholder involvement

Two IT tools

- IUCLID 5.5
  - International Uniform Chemical Information Database
  - Technical/scientific information
- R4BP 3.0
  - Register for Biocidal Products
  - Administrative/regulatory information

Context

IT tools in context

AS = Active substance
BP = Biocidal product

Costs (initial investment)

- Rollout cost to learn the new functionalities of IUCLID and R4BP
- Initial investment to structure data in the IUCLID format
- Cost of transitioning from a largely “paper-based” system to an electronic system

Benefits (return on investment)

- More structured information via harmonisation of the format of the technical data
  - Increased efficiency in sharing, checking, reusing the data -> higher quality information
- New support for the management of the administrative procedures
  - Increased productivity of all actors involved
- Increased level of security achieved via architecture, technology and policy
