Main expertise in summary

I have been head of the European Chemicals Policy section within the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs, and responsible for UK Government policy on REACH, since June 2006. In addition to the ECHA Management Board I represent the UK on REACH issues at CARACAL and the REACH Committee. Within the UK I oversee the funding and monitoring of the UK REACH Competent Authority. I also represent the Department on REACH issues at the UK Chemical Stakeholder Forum, which is an independently chaired group set up to advise government on managing risks to the environment and to human health via the environment that may result from the production, distribution and use of chemicals.
